

Netball World Cup live on Sky Sports

England v Scotland on 7th August will kick off Sky Sports' exclusively live coverage of this summer's Netball World Cup in Australia.

Sky Sports will be the only place to follow all the action from the tournament with every England game and at least three matches every day including the semi-finals and Final.

From 7th-16th August, England, Wales and Scotland will compete with the best teams in the world on the biggest stage in netball.

As well as at least three hours of live match coverage every day, viewers will be kept up to date with all the results, news and match reaction on Sky Sports News HQ, skysports.com and join the conversation with @SkyNetball.

Day one's coverage on Sky Sports 3 features three matches back-to-back starting with England v Scotland, followed by world number two side New Zealand against Barbados, before defending champions and highest ranked team in the world Australia take on Trinidad & Tobago.

Helen Falkus, Sky Sports director for netball, said: "The World Cup will showcase the best that netball has to offer and it's very exciting that the biggest stars of the game will be live on Sky Sports this summer.

“The tournament is a chance for the Home Nations to pit themselves against the world’s best, and England will be hoping to finally beat Australia and New Zealand on the biggest stage.”

The Netball World Cup is part of Sky Sports’ unrivalled coverage of women’s sport this summer which includes the Ladies European Masters, U.S. Women’s Open Golf, the Women’s Ashes, U.S. Open Tennis and the Solheim Cup.
